

The Divator™ RS4 Regulator

Getting you into the cold without ever freezing

An ever-present danger of cold water diving is the regulator freezing, causing a life threatening free flow. As a professional, you know what precautions to take to be as safe as possible, but there will always be factors you can't control. That's why we're putting an end to this risk once and for all with our new regulator, using safety pressure to ensure that no freezing occurs – no matter the conditions.
